GOD'S GREATEST DESIRE

Greetings of Grace Dearly Beloved Reader. Welcome to the Special Month of March; the month that is full of wonderful opportunities for greater exploits. Thank God you gracefully made it to this Month.

We appreciate God for transforming the prodigal mentalities in our minds to those of legitimate sons and daughters. This Month's Special Publication is packed with supernatural revelations on the need to fulfill God's greatest desire. Understanding the very desire of God will enable us to break all the limitations responsible for preventing us from enjoying and living the best kind of life that God desires of us to have. We are so confident that as you read this edition, the Spirit of the Lord will baptize you with the true revelation knowledge of Him in this very month and beyond.

To portray the importance of getting all the people in the world hear about the message of the Kingdom of heaven and get them saved, God attached it as a condition that must be met before the return of Jesus Christ to take us to the father, (Matthew 24:14). Achieving this important task requires every person to be greatly committed to the great commission given to the Church. We all must deliberately choose not to only look after those people who are already saved, but also reach out to all the world and bring them to the saving power of God.

Something interesting blew my mind from the passage we read in the last month's publication about the prodigal son. I saw an alarming attitude of negligence and selfishness in the Church that we must get rid of in order to fulfill the true desires of God for all humanity.

"Now his older son was in the field. And as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. So he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant. And he said to him, 'Your brother has come, and because he has received him safe and sound, your father has killed the fatted calf.'"

"But he was angry and would not go in. Therefore his father came out and pleaded with him. So he answered and said to his father, 'Lo, these many years I have been serving you; I never transgressed your commandment at any time; and yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might make merry with my friends. But as soon as this son of yours came, who has devoured your livelihood with harlots, you killed the fatted calf for him.'"

"And he said to him, 'Son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours. It was right that we should make merry and be glad, for your brother was dead and is alive again, and was lost and is found.'" (Luke 15:25-32 –NKJV)

There are two very powerful insights the Holy Spirit is directing our attentions to from this Scripture:

1. GOD DESIRES THE WHOLE WORLD TO BE SAVED,

Upon every believer is the responsibility to bring more people to also believe in what he or she believes. One of the proves of any genuine belief is the incessant desire to bring others to also believe in what the person believes. Belief is contagious, it is meant to spread out to others.

Words on Marble:

The Holy Spirit is what we need for a peaceful life, a holy life, a life that manifests sweet savor of the knowledge and testimonies of God.

Moses. D. Abarshi

Until you see the need to share with others what you believe, you don't really believe anything. Do not think that you are saved to only sit down at the corner of your house or church and be waiting to go to heaven. There are so many people out there who are in dire need of the salvation you are enjoying today. One of the ways to appreciate God for coming to save you through his Son is to bring more people to benefit from what you enjoy. Do not deny them access in any way. Be careful in how you treat people who have made one mistake or the other in the church. Do not send them away because they fell, bring them closer to you and heal their wounds with the healing power of the God-kind of love. Do not rejoice when you see another brother or sister dying in sin. When a believer writes another believer off because he or she fell into the trap of the devil, that believer is simply not sure of what he or she believes. When the prodigal son went away, the elder brother never bothered to go after him. And when the prodigal son returned, the elder brother became angry and refused not to go in to join in the celebration of his return. One would have expected to see the elder brother rejoicing as the father did, but he was bitterly disappointed that the father could still welcome such an unworthy prodigal son. Do not join those so-called Christians whose business in the church is to castigate and condemn those people who have mistakenly wronged them or have gone against the will of God.

This unloving attitude is destroying the confidence of many people from coming to the Kingdom of God. Many believers who were mistreated because of the sins they committed in the past are now living without any sense of worth because of the pains of rejection and condemnation they suffer from other fellow believers. Do not hold onto the mistakes of others when God has since forgiven them. Arise and assume your responsibilities as God's representative on earth. Resolve to reach out to sinners with the love of God to bring them in and shelter them from the attacks of the enemy. Do not use condemnation to subject them to more hardship of life. Be passionate about saving the dying souls out there and join the evangelism, visitation, and follow up team of your Church to put smiles on the face of God. God's desire is to see the world repent of its sins and be restored back to him. The father loves and eagerly awaits the safe and sound return of the entire world. He hates to see them perish in sins. Do not waste more time in judging them. It is not the responsibility of the church to judge or punish people who sinned. The church is actually like a hospital where sin should be treated. It is God's Kingdom First Aid Agency, saddled with the responsibilities of undoing any damage caused by sin in the world and reconciling people to God. No wonder Jesus empowered the Church to forgive sins and not to maintain sin.

"If you forgive anyone his sins, they are forgiven; if you do not forgive them, they are not forgiven." (John 20:23 – NIV)

Allow the love of God to richly dwell in you so that it generously reaches out to others. Your life should be a channel through which many people can come to the father, please do not deny them access. Let us open the door for them, so that they can access the benefits of all that God has provided for them. God is always excited when any person comes back to him. Listen to the Words of Jesus about what God expects from every believer:

Now the tax collectors and "sinners" were all gathering around to hear him. But the Pharisees and the teachers of the law muttered, "This man welcomes sinners and eats with them."

Then Jesus told them this parable: "Suppose one of you has a hundred sheep and loses one of them. Does he not leave the ninety-nine in the open country and go after the lost sheep until he finds it? And when he finds it, he joyfully puts it on his shoulders and goes home. Then he calls his friends and neighbors together and says, 'Rejoice with me; I have found my lost sheep.' I tell you that in the same way there will be more rejoicing in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who do not need to repent."

(Luke 15:1-7 – NKJV)

Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish

(Matthew 18:14 – NKJV)

God's value for human lives is beyond human comprehension. No wonder, God could go to any length to get us back to himself; accepted to pay for our ransom with the life of his dear Son Jesus Christ. In other words, even if you were the only sinner in the world, Christ will still come to the world to die for you and get you reconciled back to God. That is how much God loves us. God's idea for saving mankind was not to save just a few people or a very good number of people and leave the rest to perish. The price was fully paid for everyone; saved and unsaved.

"This is how much God loved the world: He gave his Son, his one and only Son. And this is why: so that no one need be destroyed; by believing in him, anyone can have a whole and lasting life. God didn't go to all the trouble of sending his Son merely to point an accusing finger, telling the world how bad it was. He came to help, to put the world right again."

(John 3:16-17 - THE MESSAGE)

The only way that the value of what Jesus did can be recognized, appreciated, utilized, and maintained is when everyone, everywhere enjoys what has been fully paid for him or her.

2. ALL THAT THE FATHER HAS IS YOURS

... "And he said to him, 'Son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours."

Babies cry when in need, children ask when in need, sons take or demand for whatever they need. What distinguishes sons from babies and children is they understand that all that the Father has is theirs. The limited understanding of our enormous redemptive rights has built a deep level of hatred, envy and all manner of sins among believers. Even in the church, some people kill to possess what belongs to someone else, they condemn and castigate others just to be favored more than others; they compromise the truth because they have completely lost hope, they don't believe that they could succeed if so and so persons are also succeeding. The lives of many believers have been entangled by how to be mentally, materially, socially, and financially better than others at all cost that they completely abandoned what God has really called them to do as well as to have.

They keep competing, laboring, crying and fighting for what is already theirs.

Do not feel insecured when somebody else is succeeding. The fact that somebody is succeeding doesn't mean that you will fail. God has not called us to a life of "survival of the fittest", but rather to a life of abundance. No matter how much we use God's resources, we can never exhaust them. No matter how somebody is succeeding in anything, he or she cannot in any way diminish your own ability or opportunity to succeed. Many people are not just comfortable with the success of others just like the elder brother of the prodigal son. When a bishop sees how God uses an evangelist, he gets angry and uses his power to incapacitate him. When a pastor sees how his colleagues or members are doing well, he thinks of what to do to cripple them. When a believer sees the blessing of God upon other believers, he or she develops a deep hatred toward the other people. Some people just keep doing all manner of evils because they believe God is partial; He loves others more than them. You have to understand that to as many that receive and believe in him, they have the right to become sons of God (John 1:12). And sons naturally know that whatever belongs to the father also belongs to them.

No true parents will be happy to see their child suffering over anything while they have the solution to it. True parents would not give their children stone instead of bread, or snake instead of fish. If your earthly parents will labor to see you enjoy and lack nothing how much more your heavenly father who owns everything in heaven and on earth? (See Matthew 7:9-11)

This older son just like many Christians doesn't know his rights as a son; he kept laboring and waiting for the day that the father would give him a young goat to eat with his friends. I could not believe what he was angry for; he thought his brother was a hindrance to his progress. Now that the brother is back, he wasn't likely to get that young goat that he has been laboring for all his life. The prodigal son understood his rights as a son and he kept enjoying them. He knew that he could demand for anything the father has and would be granted to him, he knew that if he goes back to the father as a sinner; the father would accept him back; after all he is still his son. Why are you worried while you actually have everything? The earth and everything in it belongs to your father. In fact, he has given you the whole earth to enjoy, (Psalms 116:15). That promotion you desire is actually yours, that child, husband, wife, house, car, just name it, is yours. Whatever the father has is yours as long as you are with him. You are entitled to perfect health, and everything you could ever need that pertains to life and godliness. The returned brother is not your problem; your mind is the real problem. Nobody's success or failure can be a hindrance to your success. The same access those people have to the father, you also have, and you only need to change your mind. Stop calling your brother "this your son ..." and face your business. If you don't change your mind, your brother will keep enjoying everything, especially now that he is back while you continue to live in anguish. People cannot exhaust the provision that God has made for them no matter how much they demanded. The more they use, the more they multiply.

God is so happy to see you prosper. He will supply all your needs according to his glorious riches in Christ Jesus, and your cup will never run dry. Believe it and you will have what the father has!

AVOID PRESUPPOSITION

Ambs. Julius Asein

Presupposition is something assumed or supposed in advance. It is a way of concluding something even before the investigation commences. Jesus who is our role model never condemned or wrote anyone off.

Remember the woman caught in the VERY ACT of adultery (John 8:4) and the robber who was crucified along side with him? When ever we make a presupposition of others, we tend to write them off and never see the good and beautiful spirit in them. Learn to pause and ask yourself; "how will Christ see this individual?" If you do this, you will see them as Christ sees them and the resulting effect will be love for such an individual.

Let us take a quick look at this story and see what lessons we can glean from it. A 24 year old boy seeing out from a train's window shouted "Dad, look the trees are going behind!" The dad smiled and a young couple sitting nearby, looked at the 24 year old childish behavior with pity. Suddenly the 24 year old child exclaimed again; "Dad, look the clouds are running with us!" The couple could not resist it this time around, and said to the Father "why dont you take your son to a good doctor?" The old man smiled and said "I did. We are just coming from the hospital, my son was blind from birth, he just got his eyes today"

Every single person on the planet has a story. Dont judge people before you truly know them. The truth might surprise you when you later found out about what they went through in life. So think before you say something especially to people you are just meeting for the first time. Remember while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us and lavished his love on us. If He were to regard iniquity, who will stand? Really no one, not even you!

Faith today has been misconstrued by many, some go to the extent of defining faith as a force directed towards God, COMPELLING HIM TO DO WHAT WE WANT HIM TO DO and not just what he wants to do for, in and through us. This is a false attempt to play God. The bible says who has known the way of God that he might instruct him?

Faith is absolute trust in God. It is you believing that He is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him. It is the basis of our relationship with God, because no one has at any point seen God but we just have this confident assurance that He exists. It is beyond mere optimism and wishful thinking. Faith is a knowing in your inner man and a conviction in your spirit that God's Word is true. Having this understanding, we ought to constantly remind ourselves of our faith (confident assurance) and come with that mentality when ever we come into His presence. (1John 5:14).

We should not be like some kind of believers we have today that profess faith in their mouths but not in their hearts. As we see in this story of a particular village that was trusting God for rain due to a severe drought that made it impossible for them to cultivate the land for a long time. One day, they all decided to meet at the village square to pray to God for rain. On the agreed date they all met but only "one small boy" came for the prayers with an umbrella. That shows faith.

For this reason I am telling you, whatever you ask for in prayer, believe (TRUST AND BE CONFIDENT) that it is granted to you, and you will [get it]. (Mark 11:24 -AMP)

Wisdom for the Woman

Every SINGLE LADY
IS A POTENTIAL
MOTHER IN-LAW
Jummai J. D. Jydsen

Certain truths must be taught, learned and applied in one's life if such a person desires a regret free ending. Women all over the world are always on the receiving end, but some ladies instead of learning from the lives of the older women, they prefer to learn through experience. Believe me, sometimes, experience is not the best teacher.

One of the greatest opportunities God gave the female youths is the ample time to wisely prepare for their future home. Regrettably, so many ladies live on delusion; a life full of lies and deception, thinking that life is simply a game of luck. Every lady must be wise enough to realize that no one remains a youth forever. If as a youth, you don't use the time wisely, you will not be far from regret in your old age. So many ladies major on the minor things instead of the major things. Today, the trend in the lists of wishes of many unmarried ladies on the kind of life they wish to have when married is such a disastrous one. Some ladies want to marry a man that is an island of his own; who will never have anything to do with is biological family members. Some ladies even pray for their mother in-laws to die before they marry. Many people forget a principle that applies to everyone on the face of the earth; whatsoever you sow you will surely reap, either good or evil. Such kinds of attitudes are seeds of potential evil forces that will destroy any person who sows them sooner or later. The old woman you see today, that gave birth to the husband you married or desire to marry was once like you. It automatically implies that one day you are likely going become someone's mother in-law. If you pray for disaster to fall upon your mother in-law, what then would become of you in the future when you become someone's mother in-law? If in-laws are evil, you actually don't suppose to live because you are also an in-law to someone, somewhere.

Certainly, there are crises that are usually generated by ignorant mother in-laws, but your duty as a daughter in-law is to love your in-laws and do good unto them even if they mistreat you. The force of love is a very powerful one, people might ignore it at the beginning, but love always wins. Learn from Ruth in the Bible and her mother in-law, Naomi. Her kind deeds even when her mother in-law wanted to send her away, earned her the fortune that we still remember her today.

The unfortunate thing about women who wish their mother in-laws dead is that they end up becoming nuisances in the home of their own children. They are always after the fault of their daughters in-laws. They are set of negative people who will never see the good side of another person. They are always suspicious of everything about the house of their sons. Women like that are overprotective, always interfering in the lives of their children. Please, do not start what you cannot finish. Be kind hearted toward everyone, do good to even those who do evil to you, and secure your future by having a loving attitude toward people.

If a woman truly loves her husband, she will also love everyone in his family, so also the man. Be wise and never learn through experience.

The end of these kinds of women who destroy their homes by plotting evil against their in-laws is that everybody deserts them in their old age. When they need people the most that is when people desert them. Your mother in-law is a great blessing to your home; she is an opportunity given to you to secure your future by been kind to them. An act of love to anyone is a powerful seed that never dies. People who sow love in hard times always reap it with joy.

Wise ladies must be careful of what they watch on movies, what they hear from friends and what they also say or do. Most of the things showed on movies are purely lies from the pit of hell. The best things a God fearing lady should do are to hold unto the Word of God, always be led by the Spirit of God and make sure that once she marries a man she automatically marries his family. The lady who prays for the dead of her mother in-law is equally telling God not to allow her to see when her own children will marry and even see her grandchildren before she dies. It's as simple as that! The Word of God urges us to do unto others what we want them to do for us, because, whatever we do unto them is a seed that we must reap. Singles ladies should have bigger dreams than that. They should plan and pray for what to do to effectively play their roles when married in order to have a peaceful, loving, and heaven on earth home.

May you live to love and to cherish your home! Amen.
